Two Civilians Head Syria's New Regime

Restrictions Also Relaxed On Curfew By Military Heads

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Syria's coup leaders named two civilians to head the new regime Friday night and relaxed curfew restrictions.

The left-wing military junta which seized power last Wednesday named Dr. Nouredin Atassi, 36, as chief of state, replacing deposed Gen. Amin Hafez.

Dr. Youssef Zayyen, 35, was appointed prime minister in place of Salah Bitar. The announcements, made over Radio Damascus, did not identify the members of the junta, which calls itself the "Temporary Command" of the Arab Socialist Baath party.

Other civilian members of the government were expected to be chosen from former Cabinet members of a three-month government headed by Zayyen last year. That government fell in December when more moderate Baathists installed Bitar as premier.

The "Temporary Command" announced that it would remain in power during an unspecified transition period and would retain the authority to fire the head of state and Cabinet members.

Observers said this indicated that Atassi and Zayyen, both physicians, were a front for the junta to reduce its military image.

Most of the troops, tanks and armored cars that moved into the center of the capital during the first two days of the coup have withdrawn to the outskirts of Damascus.

The radio announced that starting today residents will be allowed into the streets from 5 a.m. to 9 p.m. Normal working hours will be resumed in government offices, institutions and schools, the radio said.

Damascus appeared to be calm. There was no further word on reported fighting between army units in northern Syria.

Hafez, the former head of state, and Mohammed Omran, ex-defense minister, were reported under arrest.

Hearings Continued Second Time In Raid

Hearings for three persons arrested in a raid by Hancock County sheriff's deputies on the Jade Lounge Feb. 13 were continued a second time Friday by Judge John D. Herron of New Cumberland.

The new date has been set for March 10 at 10 a.m. The continuance was granted by Herron following a mutual request by the prosecuting and defense attorneys.

Arrested on gaming and liquor violation charges were Joseph Timmons, licensee, and Louis Masco and Joyce Koon, employees. All are residents of the Chester area.

Mighty Saturn Roars Skyward

BULLETIN

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. — The first unmanned Apollo moonship successfully rocketed over a blistering 5,300-mile ballistic course today and parachuted to a landing in the south Atlantic Ocean.

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The mightiest rocket ever built by the United States, a Saturn 1B, thundered skyward today in an attempt to hurl the first unmanned Apollo moonship over a blazing re-entry course.

The launching was the first of a long series of Apollo shots aimed at landing American astronauts on the moon in this decade. If there are no major problems, the historic adventure could be achieved on the 12th launching, early in 1968.

The huge Saturn 1B, 22 stories tall and weighing 650 tons on liftoff, blazed away from Cape Kennedy at 11:11 a.m. (EST) on the tremendous 16 million pounds of thrust generated by its first stage powerplant, a massive cluster of eight engines.

A tail of flame the length of a football field fanned out behind the rocket as it climbed upward, tilting over on a south-east heading.

Speaks At Alabama University

President's Wife Makes Racial Tolerance Appeal

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP) — The University of Alabama once the scene of an ugly civil rights confrontation, displayed its Southern charm for visiting Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson.

The President's wife showed a deft Southern touch herself, when she made a plea for racial tolerance without even mentioning such words as discrimination or civil rights.

She just said things like: "The greatest need of each human spirit is to walk with head high in the tonic air of self respect."

"The promise of equality first made in our Constitution is ours to keep."

And, custom and prejudice shouldn't deter us from "offering the hand of partnership in the American experience" to our neighbors.

The President's wife had perhaps her most receptive audience of many a speaking trip Friday when she addressed an Alabama leadership conference in an auditorium filled with 2,000 delegates, students and faculty.

They responded to her with prolonged standing ovations and a burst of applause for this significant portion of her speech.

The rocket was launched after the shot at one time was postponed today because of problems associated with pressurizing the first stage fuel tanks.

The postponement announcement was made by NASA at 10:45 a.m. (EST). Ten minutes later, as newsmen were about to leave the Cape Kennedy press site, the control center announced that a further look at data showed that the trouble had been corrected.

Earlier, at 9:03 a.m., the count was halted just four seconds before liftoff when an electronic trouble - sensing device noted the low pressure and automatically ordered a stop.

The countdown was recycled to 15 minutes and held there while technicians adjusted a pressure regulator in ground support equipment.

The launching was the first for the Saturn 1B, which may be the most powerful rocket ever launched. However, Soviet secrecy on the size of their rockets prevents comparison. Saturn 1B is forerunner of the Saturn 5, which will be the moon booster.

U.S. Rejects Soviet Charge Of Violations

'No Foundation,' Embassy Claims About Test Treaty

MOSCOW (AP) — The U.S. Embassy announced today it has rejected as "without any foundation" Soviet charges of American violations of the partial nuclear test ban treaty.

The Soviet charges grew out of the crash in Spain last month of an American bomber carrying nuclear weapons.

The American Embassy also rejected a Soviet demand that the United States end flights over foreign territories by bombers carrying nuclear weapons. The embassy said these flights were made necessary by the Soviet nuclear threat to Western security.

Davis E. Boster, counselor for political affairs, delivered the embassy reply Friday to the Soviet foreign ministry. The Russians accepted the reply but not its contents.

The Soviet charges were contained in a Feb. 16 memorandum to U.S. Ambassador Foy D. Kohler from Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko.

It said that as a result of the crash in Spain of a U.S. B-52 bomber "four hydrogen bombs, each of which surpassed in power hundreds of times over the bombs dropped on Hiroshima and Nagasaki, fell on the territory of Spain and the coastal waters of the Mediterranean."

"At least in one of these bombs the detonator blew up and radioactive substances were released. There is risk of radioactive contamination also from the hydrogen bomb lying at the bottom of the Mediterranean."

The American reply termed this sheer propaganda, saying "The government of the United States rejects the allegations made by the Soviet government in its aide memoire of Feb. 16, 1966. The government of the U.S.S.R. must be aware — or could easily have ascertained — that no nuclear weapon test, no nuclear explosion of any kind, and no radioactive pollution of the sea were involved in the unfortunate accident over the coast of Spain."

The latest body count said that 18 Viet Cong bodies were found together with four submachineguns, four rifles and 50 hand grenades. Marine casualties were light.

One Viet Cong who said he was a stretcher bearer was captured.

An armored troop carrier patrol from the mechanized 5th Infantry, 25th Division, surprised a Viet Cong platoon attempting to mine a bridge near Cu Chi Friday and killed 15 of the enemy, a U.S. spokesman said.

U.S. Artillery Duels With Mortar Fire; Reds Step Up Drive

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. Marines fought off a determined Viet Cong attack near Chu Lai today and U.S. artillery duelled with enemy mortar fire as the Communists continued to step up their offensive.

Today's attack by about 100 Red troops on a 50-man Marine unit marked the second time in two days that the Viet Cong struck at U.S. emplacements.

A force of 160 Leathernecks hurled back a Viet Cong attack Friday night at Phu Bai, killing three Communists, spokesmen said. Marine losses were reported light.

Today's target for the Viet Cong was Phu Loi, an artillery base area 15 miles north of Saigon. U.S. spokesmen said the Reds fired 16 mortar rounds, but casualties were light.

The Viet Cong were also active in the northern part of the Mekong Delta, attacking a government outpost Friday 60 miles southwest of Saigon. A spokesman said the 60-man defense force suffered heavy casualties.

For the fourth straight day, air attacks over North Viet Nam were hampered by poor weather. An Air Force spokesman said all the bombing Friday was by radar.

Air Force pilots flying F106 Thunderchief jets smashed at an ammunition depot and storage area five miles from the city of Vinh. Other Air Force targets included the Minh Loc bridge and highway complex.

Navy Skyraiders and F4 Phantoms from the carrier Ranger hit a mountain pass Friday 37 miles southwest of Vinh.

In the ground war, the Viet Cong attack on the U.S. Marine position began with a barrage of mortars and recoilless rifles. The main attack came at dawn when Viet Cong fighters managed to cut their way through the outer triple apron of wire.

As they clawed through the single inner wire strand the assault was halted by concentrated small arms fire and artillery support from the embattled Marines.

The latest body count said that 18 Viet Cong bodies were found together with four submachineguns, four rifles and 50 hand grenades. Marine casualties were light.

No Speakers On Visit

Debaters Absent With Senate In Special Session

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON — Administration efforts to speed up and resolve the Senate's Viet Nam debate failed for lack of a quorum today.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate meets today for a special Saturday session of the great Viet Nam debate — with no debaters in sight.

Acting Democratic Leader Russell B. Long said he sent wires to all senators — including himself — pleading "If you have a speech to make, come make your speech."

But Sen. Wayne Morse D-Ore., who had just finished one four-hour address attacking administration Viet Nam policy and planned another for Monday, said he knew of no one who planned to speak today.

"If no one shows up, I'll be here," promised Long, "and if the spirit moves me I may make a speech." The Louisiana Democrat is a strong supporter of President Johnson's policies.

Johnson holds a news conference in his office today with Viet Nam to be the principal subject of discussion.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey all but sent his regrets Friday in response to an invitation from Chairman J. W.

Fulbright to discuss his Asian trip and foreign aid commitments with the Foreign Relations Committee.

With its well-publicized televised hearings, Fulbright's group has been at the center of the debate criticizing Johnson's Asian policy.

When the vice president was asked about Fulbright's invitation to appear at a closed hearing, he remarked:

"I suggest congressmen should be looking for new issues and new copy and not be having replays."

He observed that he had already briefed the members of the committee along with others at the White House session the day after his return from Asia and, all in all, had met "with almost every member of Congress who is in the city . . . and I do not really see, in all sincerity, the necessity for further talks."

He also said he was working up a report on the trip for the President which would be made public.

Fulbright said some members of the committee wanted to hear from Humphrey as well as Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara before acting on the additional Viet Nam foreign aid requests of the administration.

Speculation On Numbers Is Declined

Sees No Need To Call Large Reserve Or Guard Forces

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson said today he has acted on all requests by the military command for more troops in Viet Nam but expects additional requests by mid-summer.

Johnson, holding a news conference in his oval White House office, declined to speculate on the number of added forces that might be sought but emphasized that he felt certain they could be supplied "without undue strain."

This strongly indicated he foresees no need to mobilize large numbers of National Guardsmen and Reservists.

As for the home front impact of the war in Viet Nam, Johnson said he has made no studies, nor recommendations about a possible tax increase to boost federal revenues and combat inflation.

But he added, "I would not want to preclude them."

Questioned about grumbling from organized labor about the working of the administration's wage-price guideposts — which AFL-CIO spokesmen argue puts more pressure on them than on industry — Johnson expressed renewed hope the guideposts would work.

If not, he said, "we'll recommend whatever legislation is necessary."

The chief executive left the general impression, however, that no legislative proposals either for a tax increase or for any type of wage-price controls loomed as a very large possibility in the foreseeable future.

Million Students Face Draft Tests

WASHINGTON (AP) — One million draft-eligible students are expected to take the Selective Service college qualification tests this spring. The exams will help draft boards determine whether the students may stay in school or be drafted.

The three-hour test will cover four areas: reading comprehension, verbal relations, arithmetic reasoning, and data interpretation.

A Selective Service spokesman said the test has been so constructed that no special advantage will be given to any type of major course students are pursuing.

In announcing a return to the Korean war procedure, Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, director of Selective Service, said the tests will provide local boards with

Tanks And Troops Block Road To Sukarno Palace

SINGAPORE (AP) — Indonesian tanks, armored cars and troops blocked all roads to President Sukarno's palace today and helicopters kept watch against student demonstrations, reliable sources said.

The atmosphere in Jakarta was "tense — almost explosive" in the wake of Sukarno's crackdown on student rallies, the sources said.

The anti-Communist, pro-army Indonesian Student Action Front — KAMI — banned by Sukarno Friday, received a pledge of

But it was not known if the army would continue to give tacit support for the students, who have demonstrated to protest Sukarno's ouster of Gen. Abdul Harris Nasution as defense minister.

Flags At Half Staff Today For War Hero

LOS LUNAS, N.M. (AP) — All across New Mexico flags fly at half staff today. But the mourning is greatest in this rural community where a war hero has come home for the last time.

His name was Daniel Fernandez. Last week, the 21-year-old Army specialist fourth class deliberately threw himself over an exploding grenade in Viet Nam.

He died. But his buddies lived. "Greater love than this no one has, that one lay down his life for his friends."

With that simple passage from the Gospel of St. John, the Rev. Francis Schuler will begin his sermon at a Requiem High Mass for Fernandez, held, not in a church, but in a school gymnasium so that more of the youth's friends might be able to attend.

After the Mass, the body will be taken to Sante Fe, about 90 miles north, for burial.

An eight-man rifle squad will fire a graveside salute and a bugler will sound Taps.

Lt. Gov. Mack Easley, acting in the absence of Gov. Jack M. Campbell, issued orders that flags in the state dip in tribute to the young hero today.

Representing the governor at the burial services will be Maj. Gen. John P. Jolly, the state's adjutant general.

Ghana's New Leaders Release 450 Prisoners

ACCRA, Ghana (AP) — Relatives cheered as Ghana's new military leaders released 450 political prisoners from Kwame Nkrumah's jails.

Thousands crowded around the massive Ussher Fort and other jails Friday to greet those coming out with kisses and tears. Many of the detainees were feeble and ill after years in prison.

Even as special police loyal to Nkrumah put up a last-ditch stand at Accra's radio station, Lt. Gen. J.A. Ankrah, chief of the new National Liberation Council, appointed a seven-man group of experts to get Ghana's economy moving again.

The group included officials whose carefully laid economic plans the new regime said had been distorted or ignored by Nkrumah. Among them were Albert Adomah, head of the Bank of Ghana, R. S. Amegashie, and B.K. Mensah. The latter two were educated in the United States.

A number of special police were reported killed during the battle at Broadcast House which, informants said, erupted during a visit there by Col. E. K. Kotoka. Kotoka is believed to have led the revolt that overthrew Nkrumah Thursday while the ousted leader was on a visit to Peking.

Otherwise the country was calm, but army and police pressed their hunt for officials of Nkrumah's Convention People's party which was outlawed after the coup.

The Ghanaian Times, formerly a special organ of the Convention People's party, quickly fell into line with the coup.

"Where are the Hitlers and Mussolinis of yesterday who used the name of the people to try to build huge empires for themselves and their families?" the newspaper said in an editorial.

The army raided the Kwame Nkrumah Ideological Institute 40 miles outside Accra Friday and arrested the faculty. The students had fled.

In Washington, the State Department said the new military government had approached the American ambassador in Accra on the question of recognition.

Press officer Robert J. McCloskey said it is "too early" to speak about recognition, and "it is too early to say" whether the military coup can be regarded as successfully concluded.

A dispatch from Peking by the Soviet news agency Tass, said Nkrumah declared, "I am returning to Ghana soon." He ordered any of the armed forces engaged in the uprising to return to their barracks. But a dispatch from Cairo said it was considered likely the fallen president would go there to join his wife and children.

His Egyptian-born wife, Fatma Halem Nkrumah, 35, arrived in Cairo Friday.

She, and the three Nkrumah children, Gamal, 9, Samia, 5, and Job, 4, were flown out of Accra in an Egyptian airliner.

were headed by the room of David Wern, which collected $16.84. Bob Matheny is the room representative. James R. Martin's room was high for the seniors with $12.13. Bill Green is the Council representative.

Agencies sharing in the proceeds include the United Fund, Cancer, Red Cross, March of Dimes, Christmas Seals and Heart Fund.

Organizations and the amounts they contributed in the drive included:

Key Club, $30; Thespians, Hi-Tri and Boosters, $25 each; History and Girls Athletic Association, $15 each; National Honor Society and Music Appreciation, $10 each; and Art, Forum, Future Teachers and Creative Writing, $5 each.

Besides Miss Beatty, the Student Council committee included Linda Alexander, Susan Greenwood, Erin McCormack and Debbie Emmerling. Tom Ash and Jim Gooding were in charge of publicity.

KAMI led a five-mile-long funeral parade of 10,000 students through Jakarta Friday in connection with protests over Sukarno's Cabinet shakeup.

Marines and police with machine-guns watched the march but the army sympathized with the students, reports in Singapore said.

The funeral parade was organized after it was reported that three students — one a girl — were shot dead by guards during another KAMI demonstration outside Sukarno's palace Thursday. The students were demonstrating against the ouster of Nasution, an anti-Communist who led a purge of Communists after the Oct. 1 coup attempt.

Sources in Singapore reported that three KAMI students were killed Thursday and two wounded the day before in demonstrations outside the palace.

The Malaysian government radio said at least five students were killed, five seriously wounded and 14 slightly injured during protests last week.

Nasution has disappeared from Jakarta. His wife, reached by telephone in the capital, said she did not know where he had gone.

The Voice of Free Indonesia, a hidden radio station in Java, said Nasution won a promise of support from Maj. Gen. Ibrahim Aji, commander of the Siliwangi Division which has been stationed in central Java.

Diplomatic travelers reported earlier this week that some Siliwangi units were ordered to Jakarta to protect Nasution.

The clandestine radio said Aji told Nasution he was ready to act "the second Nasution gives the signal." The broadcast did not say where the two generals met.

more data on students when they consider college deferment requests next autumn.

Under the new deferment procedures, local draft boards will seek information on class standing of students to be considered with the examinations in determining student deferments.

The use of class standings has been assailed by some college administrators as being unfair. Some said they may refuse to cooperate with draft boards.

Dr. John Weaver, vice president for instruction at Ohio State University, called the use of class ranking "a dangerous way to go about" deferment. He said a student low-ranked at a top school might stand far higher at one where standards are less demanding.

Dean John U. Monro of Harvard University said he would comply if students request that he withhold academic data from their draft boards.

About 1.8 million college students now hold deferments. At present draft boards grant such deferments on the basis of assurances from schools that students are enrolled full time and are doing satisfactory work.

ALTON, Ill. — A copper penny with a 1943 date worth as much as $4,000 was stolen from a local collector.

Police feel certain that the thief who took the collection had no idea of the value of the penny and has probably long since put it in circulation.

The U.S. Treasury Department says only aluminum alloy pennies were made in 1943. But collectors say they know of at least three copper pennies dated that year. Two more are known to exist in private collections on the East Coast.

Copper Penny Worth $4,000 On The Loose

ALTON, Ill. — A copper penny with a 1943 date worth as much as $4,000 was stolen from a local collector.

Police feel certain that the thief who took the collection had no idea of the value of the penny and has probably long since put it in circulation.

The U.S. Treasury Department says only aluminum alloy pennies were made in 1943. But collectors say they know of at least three copper pennies dated that year. Two more are known to exist in private collections on the East Coast.

Boy Injured Seriously As Cars Ram Head-On

An 11-year-old LaCroft boy was injured seriously when the car in which he was a passenger was involved in an accident Friday at 8 p. m. on Route 267, a half-mile east of the corporation limits.

The mishap involved cars operated by John C. Bickerton, 19, son of Charles Bickerton of Densmore Ave., LaCroft, and Maywood Grimes, 56, of 5th Ave., LaCroft, according to the State Highway Patrol at Lisbon.

David W. Bickerton, a passenger in the car driven by his brother, suffered severe head injuries and was in "guarded" condition today at City Hospital. Grimes, admitted to the hospital with abrasions and a puncture wound of the left lower leg, was in "fairly good" condition.

Officers said Bickerton's car skidded left of center on a curve and collided head-on with the Grimes car.

Bickerton was cited for speed in excess of road conditions.

Three cars were damaged in an accident on Route 45, a 10th of a mile north of the intersection of Route 344, Friday at 8:30 p. m.

Officers said the cars were operated by Melvin Ayers, 22, of Ravenna, Donald Degarmo, 31, of Lisbon R. D. 1 and Brian Bzdek, 19, of Lisbon R. D. 5. Ayers and Bzdek were headed south when Bzdek's car slid off the right side of the highway. Ayers started to pass Bzdek, who then pulled back onto the highway, and Ayers was forced over toward the northbound Degarmo car. Degarmo's car was damaged when it went off the road and rammed a large rock, officers reported.

The patrol said it is searching for a hit-skip motorist whose convertible struck a milk truck on Route 30, east of Minerva, Friday at 2:45 p. m.

The truck, owned by the Goshen Dairy Co. of New Philadelphia, was driven by Jerry N. Bichsel, 30, of New Philadelphia.

He told officers he saw the other vehicle coming at him on his side of the highway and pulled the milk truck off the road and stopped. The convertible hit the rear end of the truck, causing it to upset and roll over.

Officers said the convertible is believed to be a late model, black and white Buick with 10-day license tags.

Car Fumes Kill Girl, Companion Critical

CLEVELAND (AP) — Marianne Wasdell, 15, of suburban Willowick died of apparent carbon monoxide poisoning early today. Her 17-year-old companion was in critical condition.

The Cuyahoga County Coroner's office said the two were found in a parked car in Cleveland's Wildwood Park.

The boy, John Mathews of Wickliffe was listed as in critical condition at Euclid-Glenville hospital.

Police said there were holes in the bottom of the car, near the exhaust system.

Wallace sent a welcoming telegram, telling Mrs. Johnson, "It is always a pleasure to have you with us."

British Drivers 'Mix' Gasoline And Alcohol

LONDON (AP) — More than half of Britain's seven million drivers see nothing wrong in having "a drink or two" despite government propaganda to the contrary, says an Automobile Association club report just issued.

The AA, which has more than three million members, reports that a survey shows that about 13 per cent of British drivers don't drink because they are abstainers and 37 per cent make a point of abstaining when driving.

Of those who do drink and drive, says the survey, a third estimate that three drinks is a safe consumption, one in 10 do not know and the remainder believe individuals vary too much for rules to apply.

Nearly half of all car owners consider that the "rule of three" — three half pints of beer or three single whiskies — is reasonable, one fifth think drivers should not drink at all, while most of the remainder believe individuals vary too much for rules to apply.

The children's book classic, "The Little Engine That Could," first published in 1930, averages sales of about 100,000 copies annually.

Eckley Again To Head Ohio Bell's Operations

CLEVELAND (AP) — Frederick R. Eckley, former president, will return April 1 to again head the Ohio Bell Telephone Co., it was announced Friday.

Eckley has been elected chief executive officer by Bell directors, replacing Claude M. Blair, who took over from Eckley in 1964. Blair has resigned to accept the presidency of the Pacific Northwest Bell Telephone Co.

Eckley, who was named president the first time Dec. 1, 1962, was elected executive vice president of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. in 1964. He is a native of Delaware and a graduate of Ohio State University.

A gain last year of 158,000 telephones, the greatest annual increase since the postwar demands of 1946, was announced Friday by Blair as he issued the annual report of the company.

It brought to 3,282,000 the total number of telephones served by Ohio Bell.

AT THE same time, there was a net gain statewide of 1,263 employees, raising the total to 21,227. The company has had an increase of more than 2,000 employees in the last two years.

Ohio Bell reported that its operating revenues last year increased 6.9 per cent to $381,892,000, while operating expenses

On the downward plunge, a spacecraft motor was to ignite twice in the first flight test of a propulsion unit that will steer Apollo astronauts to the moon and bring them home.

Nearly 40 minutes after launching, the 11,000-pound cabin section of the craft was to parachute to a landing in the south Atlantic Ocean 5,300 miles southeast of Cape Kennedy, near Ascension Island.

A recovery fleet of ships and planes, headed by the aircraft carrier Boser, was stationed in the area to retrieve the cone-shaped cabin.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. — Can you advocate any special method for straightening out warped phonograph records?

A. — One often successful method is to place the warped record in the bottom of a shallow flat-bottom pan filled with hot water, then invert a dinner plate over the record, a plate whose diameter permits its edge to contact only the outer edge of the record. Place a weight on the plate and leave the record under pressure until the water has cooled to room temperature.

Q. — What can I do when my apple or cherry pies begin to boil over while baking?

A. — Take a half-slice of white bread and soak it in hot water for a minute. Then squeeze out most of the water and press the bread firmly on the juicy places on your pies. When the pie is done, remove the slice of bread.

Q. — How can I repair a drawer knob that persists in turning and loosening?

A. — You can keep this knob securely in place with a bit of steel wool shaped into a thin washer. Slip this over the bolt, between the knob and the door front of the drawer, and it will provide just enough friction to prevent the knob from turning.

Q. — How can I remove burnt spots from granite?

A. — Cover these spots with a teaspoonful of baking soda mixed to a paste with water and heated. Never attempt to scrape with a knife.

Freshman enrollment in U. S. colleges and universities last fall was up 18 per cent.

A GOOD MIXER

The engaging charm and inviting warmth of French Provincial furniture has captured the hearts of myriads of home planners. And with good reason. It fits in amiably with almost any other style of furniture. It lives graciously and unselfishly in the most casual settings, and is equally at home in rooms of elegant sophistication. It is really a good mixer.

Much of the beauty of the past is reflected in this style — the purity of the medieval Gothic designs are echoed in its graceful curvilinear form. Subtle detailing enriches but never dominates. French Provincial furniture was chosen for the living room shown above. The tufted gold-colored sofa with mellow peccan frame fits snugly into the recessed window area. Roomy lounge chairs are upholstered in Wedgewood blue which is repeated in a paler tone in the carpet. Coffee table with cabriole legs has been fashioned from peccan wood which matches the base of the sofa. Other tables are of French walnut — a rich greyed-brown shade. Gift, soft green and a touch of red have been introduced with accessories. We invite you to come in soon and visualize the beautiful French Provincial pieces you will see here in the setting of your home. Every one carefully selected for authenticity of style, excellent craftsmanship and unquestionable value.

.... Become aware of community needs

Five area religious congregations are teaming up this year to help us become aware of the truth about our area, what its needs are, how you can help.

Each week for the next five weeks, a leader from a different community service will review what is the greatest need from his or her point of view. Each of these speakers is an expert in his field. Their talks will be about problems and concerns, not solutions.

After each talk, there will be a question and answer session. The meetings will last no longer than an hour, and will be followed with refreshments over which you can get deeper into the subject as you wish.

There will be no collections. No admission charge. In each case, you will be the guest of a different congregation, who invite you as believers in one God to share their concern for greater knowledge, and join them in working for a better world for all men.

Boy Injured Seriously As Cars Ram Head-On

An 11-year-old LaCroft boy was injured seriously when the car in which he was a passenger was involved in an accident Friday at 8 p. m. on Route 267, a half-mile east of the corporation limits.

The mishap involved cars operated by John C. Bickerton, 19, son of Charles Bickerton of Densmore Ave., LaCroft, and Maywood Grimes, 56, of 5th Ave., LaCroft, according to the State Highway Patrol at Lisbon.

David W. Bickerton, a passenger in the car driven by his brother, suffered severe head injuries and was in "guarded" condition today at City Hospital. Grimes, admitted to the hospital with abrasions and a puncture wound of the left lower leg, was in "fairly good" condition.

Broader Definition Of Powers Might Help

Mayor George E. Willhaw has asked the long-inactive City Traffic Commission to resume its meeting with an eye to tackling some of the problems of auto movement in East Liverpool.

The request is well-founded. Like every community in these days of ever-growing car use, East Liverpool has no shortage of traffic problems, big and small.

If there is a stumbling block in the path of smoothing the flow of traffic, it is in the antedated ordinance that creates the commission and grants its powers.

The whole thing covers just two paragraphs in the City Code—a total of 120 words. Its provisions are so broad as to be virtually meaningless. Perhaps that is why the commission has died and been revived so many times in the past without any major accomplishments to its credit.

THIS IS ALL THE City Code has to say about a traffic commission:

"There is hereby established in the city a City Traffic Commission consisting of five members, all of whom shall be electors of the city. The members of such commission shall serve without compensation and shall be appointed by the mayor for terms of four years each, except that the term of two members of the first commission shall be for two years.

"The duty of the traffic commission established by the preceding section shall be to devise ways and means to adequately cope with traffic conditions in the city and to submit the same to the Council for its approval. The commission shall also have such powers and duties as are conferred and authorized from time to time by the Council."

There's No Automatic Virtue

When Gen. George C. Marshall was sent to China after World War II, his prestige as a major military figure was expected to make a heavy impact on the warring factions. It was hoped he could unite the Chinese people.

History has not made its final judgment on what turned out to be a futile mission. But some preliminary findings are in the record and should not be disregarded by people who never have forgiven Gen. Marshall for saving Chinese Communists were "agrarian reformers."

He did not stop at that. He went on to say that irreconcilable elements among the Communists and the Chinese Nationalist government made it impossible for them to agree on anything. The historic fact is that in 1946 Chinese Communists were gaining support by preaching agrarian reform.

Gen. Marshall said there was no hope for China's salvation unless liberal Chinese leaders accepted responsibility under the over-all leadership of Chiang Kai-shek. He placed blame equally on the Communists and the Nationalists. He no doubt remembered what generally

Communists Push United Front Tactic

By Victor Riesel

Up on the third floor (front) of its national headquarters in New York City the other day, the Communist party officially came out of the underground in the un-revolutionarily round person of Gus Hall, dressed in well-tailored TV blues.

With this concession to the technology of capitalism, he proceeded to beat his brains quite gently and compulsively. He launched the party's "New Program," but the basic story was not told the 50-odd newsmen and electronic reporters.

Hidden deep in the verbiage of the expensive document distributed is the Communist party's plan to base virtually all its future action on infiltration of the American labor movement.

The real story was told not at the theatrical press conference, but at a secret four-day meeting in the same building about a month ago (Jan. 14-17).

At the press conference Hall was genial and polished albeit verbose. He even mused aloud about "Riesel, he's still good to us." But at the secret meeting, last January, Hall was tough and direct.

THERE CAN BE no action on any front, he said, without labor unity, without a "united front," of Communist forces and non-Communist unionists and union leaders.

Over and over again throughout the four long days this was the main theme of the closed Communist parley. And obscured in the literature distributed to the newsmen Feb. 23, 1966, was the impactful phrase that such unity would be the mainstream of the Communist efforts on all fronts—political, civil liberties, civil rights, youth and propaganda.

"We must make working class unity a continuous long-term campaign," said he last January to the selected and anonymous 80 men and women who had come incognito and under considerable security supplied by the party's control commission.

"This must be centered around the unity of the existing trade unions, the unity of the class..."

TO HIS OWN people Hall put forth five "overall arguments": "The working class cannot meet automation without such unity and the campaign for such unity; nor can it become an independent force without such unity and the campaign for such unity; nor can it build its alliances without such unity and the campaign for such unity."

"It cannot make any meaningful breakthroughs in any field, economic or political, without such unity and the struggle for such unity; and it cannot play its historic role as the leading class in society without such unity and the struggle for such unity."

These men, Hall and his comrades, are realists. They know, as we know, they cannot capture whole sections of American labor. But they know the value to them of the "campaign and struggle for unity." This is the "tactic."

This is what must be seriously considered by thoughtful anti-Communists in and out of labor.

THE STRUGGLE and the campaign mean the creation of unrest, wildcat strikes, prolongation by infiltration of legal strikes, disturbance and disruption of defense production wherever legally possible.

Four days of "mainstream" discussion cannot be summarized in a few words. But the tactic is obvious. It means getting rank and file labor committees to support the Communist congressional and regional candidates. It means getting some labor leaders—and there are many—who have been waiting to surface, to step forward.

It means revival of its units in every industrial center.

This takes organization. It takes network. It takes communication. It takes money. Supposedly the party has no funds. When Hall was asked if his organization would dispatch financial support to the Viet Cong, he retorted:

"Oh no, no. We are not well-heeled. We have real problems with our own financial status."

ON THE THIRD FLOOR (front) there did not appear to be any poverty programming. The party's new Draft Program is 127 pages long, bound between smooth-coat greenish covers. They will distribute one million copies. You can't do that with kopecks.

And the party's five-day national convention in June will have 300 delegates, 150 alternates and 600 guests. At least half will come into New York for the conclave from distant states—and will stay at least a week. Such a tab for transportation, food, lodging, meeting halls and printing must cost upwards of $100,000.

So, funds for the infiltration of labor, from the industrial complex of Buffalo to the aerospace network of the San Francisco-Los Angeles stretch, are available.

This united front tactic—this offer of money, manpower and joint demonstrations to those who feel themselves aggrieved on any issue—is the order of the day among all Communist parties of the free world.

Watch for the turbulence. It will come.

Greatest Crisis

By David Lawrence

Misguided Remarks Hurt U.S. Cause

"This is it"—few people are making such a comment out loud about Viet Nam but many are thinking it to themselves. More and more it is beginning to be realized that the United States is passing through its biggest crisis since World War II. The conflict in Viet Nam is no small or isolated affair. It has become worldwide in its significance and it could turn into a larger war if the American people are misled into thinking that "peace at any price" is worthwhile.

The greatest danger is not in Viet Nam but in this country, where well-meaning but confused and uninformed persons are unwittingly engaged in helping to bring on the very calamity they profess to be against—a major war.

The fallacies being spread are numerous. It's being assumed, for instance, that the President alone is making the policies. Actually, he is surrounded by advisers of the highest rank in civilian and military positions. They aren't partisan in their thinking—they are conscientious and patriotic Americans anxious to assure the safety of this country. Republican leaders, too, are openly supporting the policies of the government.

NOBODY, OF COURSE, wishes to see a large war precipitated but this is certain to happen if the enemy begins to take seriously the demonstrations and speeches inside the United States which give an impression of cravenness and weakness. Secretary of Defense McNamara, in his report to Congress last week, said:

"If we and our free-world allies fail to meet the Chinese Communists' challenge in Southeast Asia, we will inevitably have to confront it later under even more disadvantageous conditions. . . . The road ahead will be difficult both in money and in lives. We have no other reasonable alternative if we are to preserve the kind of world we want to live in—a world in which each nation is free to develop in its own way, unmolested by its neighbors, free of armed attack from the more powerful nations."

Today, the Communist-controlled government in North Viet Nam doesn't want to talk peace. When negotiations are mentioned, it's insisted that the Viet Cong—the Communist faction in South Viet Nam—must be recognized as the sole representative of the South Vietnamese people.

President Johnson's role has been exceedingly difficult as well as delicate. It would be safer for his planning tactics if he didn't have to make any public statements about the future course of the war.

THE ENEMY SHOULD BE left guessing but the President understandably finds it necessary, in order to quiet fears at home, to deny publicly that he means deliberately to "escalate" the war or to engage in hostilities with Red China, the chief backer of the North Vietnamese armies. The President said in a recent speech:

"If the aggressor persists in Viet Nam, the struggle may be long. Our men in battle know and accept this hard fact. We who are at home can do as much. There's no computer that can tell the hour and day of peace, but we do know that it will come only to the steadfast—never to the weak in heart."

President Johnson was first accused of not wanting to negotiate peace but he has sent many ambassadors and recently Vice President Humphrey around the world to make it clear to all countries that America wishes peace. This, however, has been construed abroad as a sign of weakness and Mr. Johnson is finding it desirable to repeat frequently that American policy is not weakening.

Actually, as the President has just said, the tide of battle has turned.

THERE IS EVIDENCE of a desire throughout the world to reinforce the American military effort in Viet Nam, South Korea, Australia and New Zealand have already sent forces there. Other nations are giving more and more indications of their support.

The Viet Nam War, indeed, has taken on a worldwide meaning and is clearly being defined as a struggle between the free world and the Communist revolutionaries who seek to impose their will on helpless peoples.

There's really only one way to shorten the war and that is to bring about a united America and to put in proper perspective the utterances of the misguided persons in public and private life who don't seem to understand the kind of enemy the United States is fighting in Viet Nam.

Broader Definition Of Powers Might Help

Mayor George E. Willhaw has asked the long-inactive City Traffic Commission to resume its meeting with an eye to tackling some of the problems of auto movement in East Liverpool.

The request is well-founded. Like every community in these days of ever-growing car use, East Liverpool has no shortage of traffic problems, big and small.

If there is a stumbling block in the path of smoothing the flow of traffic, it is in the antiquated ordinance that creates the commission and grants its powers.

The whole thing covers just two paragraphs in the City Code — a total of 120 words. Its provisions are so broad as to be virtually meaningless. Perhaps that is why the commission has died and been revived so many times in the past without any major accomplishments to its credit.

THIS IS ALL THE City Code has to say about a traffic commission:

"There is hereby established in the city a City Traffic Commission consisting of five members, all of whom shall be electors of the city. The members of such commission shall serve without compensation and shall be appointed by the mayor for terms of four years each, except that the term of two members of the first commission shall be for two years.

"The duty of the traffic commission established by the preceding section shall be to devise ways and means to adequately cope with traffic conditions in the city and to submit the same to the Council for its approval. The commission shall also have such powers and duties as are conferred and authorized from time to time by the Council."

There's No Automatic Virtue

When Gen. George C. Marshall was sent to China after World War II, his prestige as a major military figure was expected to make a heavy impact on the warring factions. It was hoped he could unite the Chinese people.

History has not made its final judgment on what turned out to be a futile mission. But some preliminary findings are in the record and should not be disregarded by people who never have forgiven Gen. Marshall for saying Chinese Communists were "agrarian reformers."

He did not stop at that. He went on to say that irreconcilable elements among the Communists and the Chinese Nationalist government made it impossible for them to agree on anything. The historic fact is that in 1946 Chinese Communists were gaining support by preaching agrarian reform.

Gen. Marshall said there was no hope for China's salvation unless liberal Chinese leaders accepted responsibility under the over-all leadership of Chiang Kai-shek. He placed blame equally on the Communists and the Nationalists. He no doubt remembered what generally

Another One Of Those Things

The pressing urge to draw hard and fast conclusions from inconclusive events will trick commentators as reports from Ghana come in during the next few days.

If Kwame Nkrumah actually has been deposed and cannot regain his office as president of Ghana or his prestige as the Ghanans' "spiritual redeemer," the impact on African affairs could be of major importance.

But if the coup that apparently overturned his rule while he was safely out of the country in Communist China is just another one of those things that happen all the time in unsettled nations, what is happening in Ghana will turn out to be another current event in the record of governmental chaos for 1966.

Only one hard and fast conclusion can be justified at the moment.

All new wielders of power now riding high are learning what all their predecessors learned in the past. The greater the power, the more determined the opposition. Dictatorship produces the force that destroys it.

The security of a police state is an illusion that eventually must be shattered by the resentment of human beings against authoritarians who rule with whips because they cannot rule by consent.

Young Priest Who Urged Priests Union Suspended

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A young priest, in trouble with his cardinal since 1964 when he asked the Pope for the prelate's dismissal, has been suspended from the priesthood after urging that priests form a union.

The Roman Catholic Archdiocese of Los Angeles said the action was taken because of "irreverence and disobedience."

But said the Rev. William H. DuBay, "I could not allow myself to be muzzled."

Father DuBay, 31, said his suspension was ordered by James Francis Cardinal McIntyre, archbishop of Los Angeles. He said the cardinal ordered him to promise to follow the policies of the archdiocese, refrain from speaking to news men, submit all future statements and writings to the cardinal, go on a retreat and take an indefinite leave of absence.

The priest said he asked for a day to "think the matter through."

"I returned to the chancery," he said, "and informed the cardinal that I could not allow myself to be muzzled. The cardinal then declared that I was suspended from the priesthood."

The archdiocese said the "suspension will be in effect until its provisions are met, drawn by the ordinary of the diocese (Cardinal McIntyre)."

Father DuBay said he has appealed to the Pope for an ecclesiastical trial.

"If my appeal is denied or ignored," he said, "no other avenue will be left open to me except to seek redress through the civil courts."

In 1964, Father DuBay asked Pope Paul VI to remove Cardinal McIntyre as archbishop on grounds of "gross malfeasance in office." He said the cardinal failed "to exercise moral leadership" in racial discrimination.

The cardinal did not reply, but issued a statement several months later on "the serious moral obligation of all persons to avoid racial discrimination and segregation."

Father DuBay, then assistant pastor of a mostly Negro parish in suburban Compton, was transferred to a white parish in Anaheim, Calif., and later to St. John's Hospital.

This week the priest proposed uniting the nation's 58,000 Roman Catholic priests.

"We need an American federation of priests just as teachers need their American Federation of Teachers — because priests, like teachers, are employees."

"Employers — the bishop and his chancery officials — have interests distinct from those of priests on the firing line. The administrator's job is mainly public relations and finance while the professional worker's service centers directly on the needs of persons," Father DuBay said.

A MOMENT OF MEDITATION "Repent Ye Therefore, And Be Converted . . ." Acts 3:19

There has been much confusion in regard to the subject of conversion. Nearly everyone will agree that the Bible teaches a person must be converted in order to be saved. However, when we begin talking about what is involved in conversion, there is much difference of opinion. A study of what the Bible teaches will clear up this confusion. 1 Pet 4:11.

Conversion is defined as a turning away from sin to serve God. It must be remembered first that conversion is produced by hearing the word of God. "The law of the Lord is perfect, converting the soul." Ps. 19:7. The gospel is called the "power of God unto salvation." Rom. 1:16. In each of the examples of conversion recorded in the book of Acts, the Word of God is first preached. Some today contend that they are converted when God speaks to them in a "small, still voice." They encourage others to wait for God to speak to them. Friends, God speaks to men today through the words of Christ as they are recorded in the Bible. Heb. 1:1. As you listen to the things that the Bible teaches, you are hearing the Will of God. God does not speak to man in any other way.

When we hear the gospel, this will produce faith in our hearts. This faith is needed to please God. Heb. 11:6. Jesus taught that we must believe in Him or we would die in our sins. Jno. 8:24. Thus, faith is a necessary step in being converted from our sins. It does not complete our conversion. Faith by itself does not save. Jas. 2:24. The doctrine of "faith only" is not a Bible doctrine.

After a person believes that Jesus is the Christ, he must follow this with repentance. Jesus taught the importance of repentance in Lk. 13:3. To repent means that we change our minds about our way of life and then we reform our conduct. All men everywhere are commanded to repent of their sins. Acts 17:30. If we intend to continue in sins, no repentance has taken place.

Even as faith does not complete conversion, neither does repentance.

The next step in our being converted is for us to be baptized for the remission of our sins. This is a step that many have tried to eliminate. The Devil would be happy to get people to stop short of obtaining salvation. People on the day of Pentecost were told that they must repent and be baptized for the remission of their sins. Acts 2:38. If repentance is needed to be saved, then this verse teaches that baptism is also necessary. Why would people claim to want to please God and then argue with this instruction from God? The Apostle Peter taught that baptism saves us. 1 Pet. 3:21.

Conversion then, is a process of hearing the Word of God, believing it, repenting of sins, and being baptized for the forgiveness of past sins.

In our next article we will discuss an example of conversion as shown in the book of Acts.

The cardinal did not reply, but issued a statement several months later on "the serious moral obligation of all persons to avoid racial discrimination and segregation."

Father DuBay, then assistant pastor of a mostly Negro parish in Anaheim, Calif., and later to St. John's Hospital.

This week the priest proposed unionizing the nation's 58,000 Roman Catholic priests.

"We need an American federation of priests just as teachers need their American Federation of Teachers — because priests, like teachers, are employees," he said.

"Employers — the bishop and his chancery officials — have interests distinct from those of priests on the firing line. The administrator's job is mainly public relations and finance, while the professional worker's service centers directly on the needs of persons," Father DuBay said.

A MOMENT OF MEDITATION

"Repent Ye Therefore, And Be Converted . . ." Acts 3:19

There has been much confusion in regard to the subject of conversion. Nearly everyone will agree that the Bible teaches a person must be converted in order to be saved. However, when we begin talking about what is involved in conversion, there is much difference of opinion. A study of what the Bible teaches will clear up this confusion. 1 Pet 4:11.

Conversion is defined as a turning away from sin to serve God. It must be remembered first that conversion is produced by hearing the word of God. "The law of the Lord is perfect, converting the soul." Ps. 19:7. The gospel is called the "power of God unto salvation", Rom 1:16. In each of the examples of conversion recorded in the book of Acts, the Word of God is first preached. Some today contend that they are converted when God speaks to them in a "small, still voice". They encourage others to wait for God to speak to them. Friends, God speaks to men today through the words of Christ as they are recorded in the Bible. Heb. 1:1. As you listen to the things that the Bible teaches you are hearing the Will of God. God does not speak to man in any other way.

When we hear the gospel, this will produce faith in our hearts. This faith is needed to please God. Heb. 11:6. Jesus taught that we must believe in Him or we would die in our sins. Jno. 8:24. Thus, faith is a necessary step in being converted from our sins. It does not complete our conversion. Faith by itself does not save. Jas. 2:24. The doctrine of "faith only" is not a Bible doctrine.

After a person believes that Jesus is the Christ, he must follow this with repentance. Jesus taught the importance of repentance in Lk. 13:3. To repent means that we change our minds about our way of life and then we reform our conduct. All men everywhere are commanded to repent of their sins. Acts 17:30. If we intend to continue in sins, no repentance has taken place.

Even as faith does not complete conversion, neither does repentance.

The next step in our being converted is for us to be baptized for the remission of our sins. This is a step that many have tried to eliminate. The Devil would be happy to get people to stop short of obtaining salvation. People on the day of Pentecost were told that they must repent and be baptized for the remission of their sins. Acts 2:38. If repentance is needed to be saved, then this verse teaches that baptism is also necessary. Why would people claim to want to please God and then argue with this instruction from God? The Apostle Peter taught that baptism saves us. 1 Pet. 3:21.

Conversion then, is a process of hearing the Word of God, believing it, repenting of sins, and being baptized for the forgiveness of past sins.

In our next article we will discuss an example of conversion as shown in the book of Acts.

Kent Activities Grow

Students At Area Center Organize 'Senate,' Launch Variety Of Extra-Curricular Events

STUDENTS at Kent State University's Academic Center here are branching out in real campus style after a half year's operation in the field of higher education.

Although the Center as yet lacks ivy-covered walls, a rah-rah football squad and fraternity high-jinx, the young people have formed a student Senate, held a dance, undertaken a number of other extra-curricular activities and are involved in various off-campus study projects.

The first year students are well aware of the implication of the statement, "Knowledge is obtained inside the classroom, education outside the classroom." They are fitting their program to that end.

The Center, one of 13 Kent branches throughout north-eastern Ohio, represents a growing trend in university education by localizing the first two year courses and other university programs at sites away from the congested campus to better serve various population areas.

AT THE EAST Liverpool facility, 27 day and night classes are offered in four major sectors — arts and sciences, education, fine arts and business administration.

Over 16 instructors from the Kent faculty make up the staff for the classes which are offered in the afternoons at the International Brotherhood of Operative Potters Building and in the evenings at Westgate Junior High School.

Use of Top-level university faculty members insures high quality instruction on the local level. All credits achieved from class work here are transferrable anywhere Kent campus courses are, since faculty qualifications and course standards are identical to those on campus.

Kent Coed Kathy Vincent of Glenmoor 'hits the books' on the steps of Carnegie Library.

Any high school graduate is eligible for admission, and can take the full 18-hour course load if judged capable of doing so.

Those interested in becoming parttime students are encouraged to register. John Hedrick, director of the Center, declares, "Although you may be too young, you are never too old to further your education."

KENT IS ALSO gearing a new Associate Degree program to provide for a two-year training program for educating young men and women in the technical fields. This program, for those who want only a two-year education, will be offered through the city Center.

The courses in the Associate Degree could also serve toward a four-year program if the student should decide to obtain a bachelor degree.

In the classrooms, studies are supplemented by visiting lecturers such as Paul J. Obrian, General Motors official, who recently spoke to the Business Management Class.

Other supplementary activities are exemplified by a visit by the Music Appreciation

Class to the Wheeling Symphony Orchestra concert this week. The class is taught by Albert DeVaul who is first trombonist in the orchestra and who arranged the trip.

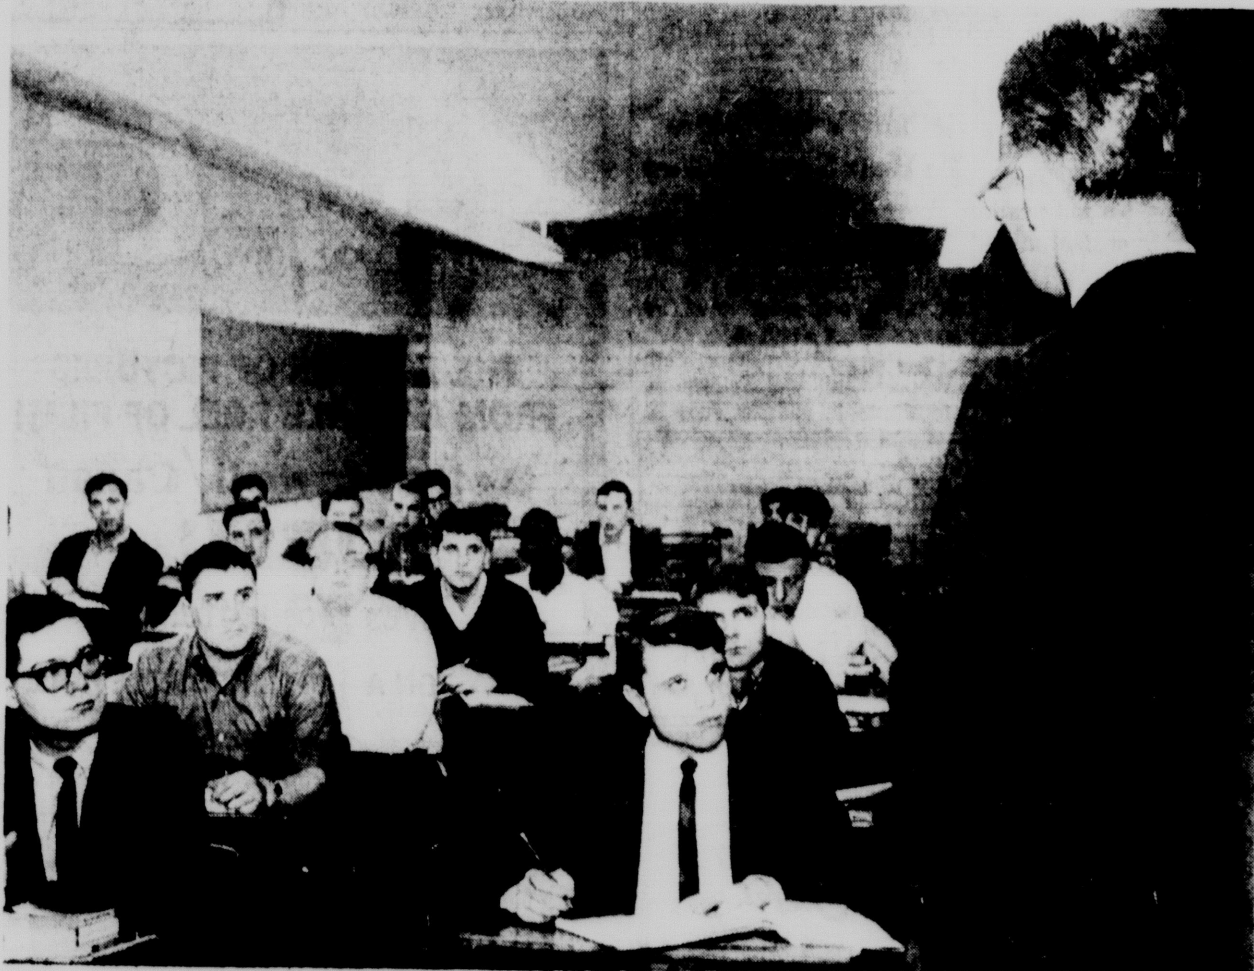

The popular Art Appreciation class of Ernest Day includes the appraisal of works of some of the creative students.

THE STUDENT Senate organized in January with members preparing a Constitution and electing officers to plan various activities and projects.

Students held a "Mid-Winter Dance" Friday night, are planning an intramural sports program, and are selling Kent State merchandise to raise funds for future social functions.

The Center is drawing renewed attention not only from the community but from prospective students who are expected to boost the enrollment from the current 230 to over 400 by next fall.

The East Liverpool area and the Kent Center are counting upon Kent fulfilling its motto, "Dedicated to developing human resources."

The Business Management Class hears a talk on production control given by Paul J. Obrian, production foreman at the General Motors Packard Electric Co. plant at Warren.

Many Kent students here earn money for college expenses at a variety of jobs in potteries, steel mills, stores and elsewhere. Bob Francis of Lisbon St. works (and studies) at a service station.

Slide photographs of art works are used for comparison study and analysis in the Art Appreciation Class taught by Ernest Day.

About 100 attended the Kent "Mid-Winter Ball" held Friday night at the Elks Lodge Ballroom, the first large social event for the students of the new center.

Little Bit Of Bardot Comes Long Way

IT'S A LONG way from Mexico and Brigitte Bardot, but both are on the local scene in manner of speaking through costumes used in a movie made South of the Border recently.

The dresses were obtained by Donald Lynn of Harding Ave., operator of Zack's store, who, with his wife and Dr. and Mrs. Norman Birnbaum of St. Clair Ave., was in Mexico while some scenes of the movie were being filmed.

Brigitte Bardot and Jeanne Moreau, famed French actresses were on location at Acapulco and Taxco for parts of the movie, "Viva Maria," a United Artists release which is scheduled in Pittsburgh in March. The film plot is concerned with a revolution in Mexico in the earlier part of the century.

Lynn, a native of New York, said the trip was his first to Mexico and he enjoyed the colorful country and the contrast of the modern cities with the ancient traditions of the land.

He was able to obtain the costumes for a special fashion display next week through contact with the Mexican Tourist Bureau.

The Lynns didn't meet Bardot or Moreau, and the outdoors acting technique didn't permit the particular "appeal magic" of the two actresses to show — at least to the sideline viewers.

But the movie-making spectacle and the opportunity to see the pair topped off a pleasant trip, he reports.

Brigitte Bardot, left, and Jeanne Moreau man a machine gun in a scene from the movie, "Viva Maria," screened in Mexico recently.

You And The Law

Sam and Milt argued continually about the location of the property line between their houses.

Finally, after one particularly violent exchange of words, Sam sued Milt in Common Pleas Court, asking the court to establish the true line. The judge heard the evidence and decided in favor of Milt. Sam, now angrier than ever, declared, "I'll take this to the Supreme Court of the United States!"

Maybe he will, and maybe he won't. The law gives every litigant a right to carry his case on appeal as high as the state Court of Appeals. At that point his right runs out, and appeals to higher courts may or may not be possible, depending on the nature of the case.

IN MOST kinds of cases, the Supreme Court of Ohio will hear an appeal only if the case involves a question of great public interest or a question of law that should be settled by a Supreme Court opinion. It does not hear cases just because the people involved in them are not satisfied with the way they came out.

Appeal to the Supreme Court of the United States is possible only if some issue of federal law is involved, especially a constitutional question, and if the question is one of great public interest. Again, the high court must restrict its attention to cases of substantial public importance and cannot hear a case just to satisfy the parties.

In civil cases, such as the dispute between Sam and Milt, the losing party may appeal, whichever one that may be. In criminal cases, only the defendant ordinarily can appeal. When the prosecution appeals, usually it is only to obtain a ruling on the law, and the fate of the accused person is not involved. An acquittal is not subject to appeal by the prosecution.

WHEN A CASE is appealed, usually the only issue is whether or not the trial court applied the law correctly. The jury's decision on questions of fact is not subject to appeal.

Occasionally someone goes to hear the attorneys argue a case on appeal and is surprised to see that there are no witnesses testifying. An appeal is not a re-trial of a case. It is an effort to secure a decision by the appellate court on whether or not the trial court applied the law correctly.

Sam's threat to appeal to the Supreme Court of the United States is probably, therefore, more fanciful than real. If, however, he has a case involving the proper issues, his case might go all the way.

If you are like the average fisherman, you probably haven't wet a line in four or five months. Cold weather is not conducive to the sport.

But, the question is, what did you do with your tackle? Is it still in the trunk of your car, or has it been tossed into some corner of the basement?

Was the reel cleaned and oiled? Was the rod wiped off and put in a protective case? What about your lures? If they were used, they get wet. If they got wet, they can rust.

Rust and dirt ruin good equipment and it's all so unnecessary.

With just a little time, effort and preparation, you can save yourself several dollars each year. With the money saved, you can buy more equipment or better equipment than you now have.

YOUR REEL, no matter what type, should be cleaned and oiled periodically while it is being used. Maybe it never has dropped in the mud or laid on the ground, but it still collects dirt.

A certain amount of sediment and sand is carried into your reel in the water on the line. This soon accumulates and after a while can ruin the small bearings and gears.

Ever notice your reel start to "ping" or clicking while you were using it? It's caused by dirt.

A quick cleaning will suffice in the summer, but before storing it away a reel should be taken apart, washed thoroughly, and then greased and oiled.

Any solvent that is not inflammable is good for cleaning. Or, you can use some of your wife's liquid detergents, which cut grease readily. If a detergent is used, the parts should be rinsed in clear water, dried and then wiped with an oily rag to prevent rust. Wipe the outside with a thin coat of oil also.

I do not recommend using gasoline or any other highly inflammable solution. The fumes can easily be ignited from a nearby flame, such as on a furnace or hot water tank in the basement.

STAY AWAY FROM tetrachloride. It is very dangerous. This solvent is toxic. Not only are the fumes dangerous, but it can be absorbed into the body through the skin.

Modern monofilament lines don't rot with moisture, but do become frayed easily. This weakens them. I usually cut two or three feet off the end each time I go fishing. This is just a precaution against possibly having the line snap when I catch a fish or even break while casting lures.

Take time to turn the line around, end for end, on the reel and double the use. Extra life also can be obtained from other types of line this way.

If you have a metal pole that is painted, check it for chip marks. Small painting kits can be obtained at hobby counters. These contain several colors and can be used to touch up bad spots.

THE WRAPPINGS ON the pole guides should be checked and if they are frayed, a coat of varnish should be applied. If they are very bad, silk wrapping thread can be purchased at sporting goods stores for replacement. You can do it yourself if you take your time.

A special type varnish is necessary for the wrappings. It can be obtained in very small bottles. This also can be applied to the entire rod if it is made of bamboo.

What about the handle? Is the grip loose? A little waterproof glue will solve this.

Check the ferrules. They should be tight. Only slightly before the rod is stored to halt rust.

If your rod is made of fiberglass, don't attempt to varnish

it. This can ruin it. Manufacturers recommend application of some wax. Auto wax or even some kitchen floor wax can be used. Read the can first to make sure it doesn't warn against use on certain type of materials.

NOW TO THE tackle box. Often during the season, water gets in the tackle box. It causes the bottoms to rust. Use a wire brush to remove this. An easy way to paint is buy one of the small aerosol cans of paint. They dry quickly and do a smooth job.

Maybe this would be a good time to apply sheets of thin cork to the bottom and in the trays where the lures are kept. It helps keep the hooks on lures from getting dulled.

Check your lures. Clean the rust from the hooks. Spend 50 cents and get a small whetstone. Use it to sharpen the hooks. It's surprising how dull they can get from being dragged across stones and along the bottoms in creeks and lakes.

Have the lures themselves become chipped and scratched? If you don't want to buy the small paint set I mentioned before, check your wife's fingernail polish.

There are several shades and it works good. In fact, a small case of cheap fingernail polish containing two or three bottles, including clear polish, is a good thing to carry along for quick repairs to lures on outings.

YOUR BOOTS AND waders also should be checked. If they were not stored properly, preferably by using a boot hanger, they may have developed cracks.

These can quickly develop into leaks and there is nothing more uncomfortable than a boot full of water while fishing.

There are rubber compounds on the market which can be used to seal small leaks. For larger holes, if your boots are rubber, apply a regular cold patch, the type used on inner tubes, or take them to a service station and have a vulcanized patch applied.

Your gasoline stove and lantern should be cleaned. Flashlights and lanterns should be checked.

Now is the time to do all these jobs. Don't wait until the last minute, or you may find a trip you planned ruined because your equipment is not in shape.

BILL ALGER and Dave Trimble of Georgetown, trying their skill at beaver trapping for the first time, have come up with three catches so far this season.

Alger, 21, and Trimble, 19, trapped a 40-pounder Friday at Hughes Lake about five miles north of Frankfort Springs. Earlier this month, they took a 20-pounder and a 25-pounder.

Alger, who works at Crucible Steel, says they hope to get enough pelts to make themselves fur jackets. They became interested in the trapping hobby just recently, and have become real enthusiasts.

A quick cleaning will suffice in the summer, but before storing it away a reel should be taken apart, washed thoroughly, and then greased and oiled.

Any solvent that is not inflammable is good for cleaning. Or, you can use some of your wife's liquid detergents, which cut grease readily. If a detergent is used, the parts should be rinsed in clear water, dried and then wiped with an oily rag to prevent rust. Wipe the outside with a thin coat of oil also.

I do not recommend using gasoline or any other highly inflammable solution. The fumes can easily be ignited from a nearby flame, such as on a furnace or hot water tank in the basement.

STAY AWAY FROM tetrachloride. It is very dangerous. This solvent is toxic. Not only are the fumes dangerous, but it can be absorbed into the body through the skin.

Modern monofilament lines don't rot with moisture, but do become frayed easily. This weakens them. I usually cut two or three feet off the end each time I go fishing. This is just a precaution against possibly having the line snap when I catch a fish or even break while casting lures.

Take time to turn the line around, end for end, on the reel and double the use. Extra life also can be obtained from other types of line this way.

If you have a metal pole that is painted, check it for chip marks. Small painting kits can be obtained at hobby counters. These contain several colors and can be used to touch up bad spots.

THE WRAPPINGS on the pole guides should be checked and if they are frayed, a coat of varnish should be applied. If they are very bad, silk wrapping thread can be purchased at sporting goods stores for replacement. You can do it yourself if you take your time.

A special type varnish is necessary for the wrappings. It can be obtained in very small bottles. This also can be applied to the entire rod if it is made of bamboo.

What about the handle? Is the grip loose? A little water-proof glue will solve this.

Check the ferrules. They should be tight. Oily slightly before the rod is stored to halt rust.

If your rod is made of fiberglass, don't attempt to varnish

it. This can ruin it. Manufacturers recommend application of some wax. Auto wax or even some kitchen floor wax can be used. Read the can first to make sure it doesn't warn against use on certain type of materials.

NOW TO THE tackle box. Often during the season, water gets in the tackle box. It causes the bottoms to rust. Use a wire brush to remove this. An easy way to paint is buy one of the small aerosol cans of paint. They dry quickly and do a smooth job.

Maybe this would be a good time to apply sheets of thin cork to the bottom and in the trays where the lures are kept. It helps keep the hooks on lures from getting dulled.

Check your lures. Clean the rust from the hooks. Spend 50 cents and get a small whetstone. Use it to sharpen the hooks. It's surprising how dull they can get from being dragged across stones and along the bottoms in creeks and lakes.

Have the lures themselves become chipped and scratched? If you don't want to buy the small paint set I mentioned before, check your wife's fingernail polish.

There are several shades and it works good. In fact, a small case of cheap fingernail polish containing two or three bottles, including clear polish, is a good thing to carry along for quick repairs to lures on outings.

YOUR ROOTS AND waders also should be checked. If they were not stored properly, preferably by using a boot hanger, they may have developed cracks.

These can quickly develop into leaks and there is nothing more uncomfortable than a boot full of water while fishing.

There are rubber compounds on the market which can be used to seal small leaks. For larger holes, if your boots are rubber, apply a regular cold patch, the type used on inner tubes, or take them to a service station and have a vulcanized patch applied.

Your gasoline stove and lantern should be cleaned. Flashlights and lanterns should be checked.

Now is the time to do all these jobs. Don't wait until the last minute, or you may find a trip you planned ruined because your equipment is not in shape.

BILL ALGER and Dave Trimble of Georgetown, trying their skill at beaver trapping for the first time, have come up with three catches so far this season.

Alger, 21, and Trimble, 19, trapped a 40-pounder Friday at Hughes Lake about five miles north of Frankfort Springs. Earlier this month, they took a 20-pounder and a 25-pounder.

Alger, who works at Crucible Steel, says they hope to get enough pelts to make themselves fur jackets. They became interested in the trapping hobby just recently, and have become real enthusiasts.

You And The Law

Sam and Milt argued continually about the location of the property line between their houses.

Finally, after one particularly violent exchange of words, Sam sued Milt in Common Pleas Court, asking the court to establish the true line. The judge heard the evidence and decided in favor of Milt. Sam, now angrier than ever, declared, "I'll take this to the Supreme Court of the United States!"

Maybe he will, and maybe he won't. The law gives every litigant a right to carry his case on appeal as high as the state Court of Appeals. At that point his right runs out, and appeals to higher courts may or may not be possible, depending on the nature of the case.

IN MOST kinds of cases, the Supreme Court of Ohio will hear an appeal only if the case involves a question of great public interest or a question of law that should be settled by a Supreme Court opinion. It does not hear cases just because the people involved in them are not satisfied with the way they came out.

Appeal to the Supreme Court of the United States is possible only if some issue of federal law is involved, especially a constitutional question, and if the question is one of great public interest. Again, the high court must restrict its attention to cases of substantial public importance and cannot hear a case just to satisfy the parties.

In civil cases, such as the dispute between Sam and Milt, the losing party may appeal, whichever one that may be. In criminal cases, only the defendant ordinarily can appeal. When the prosecution appeals, usually it is only to obtain a ruling on the law, and the fate of the accused person is not involved. An acquittal is not subject to appeal by the prosecution.

WHEN A CASE is appealed, usually the only issue is whether or not the trial court applied the law correctly. The jury's decision on questions of fact is not subject to appeal.

Occasionally someone goes to hear the attorneys argue a case on appeal and is surprised to see that there are no witnesses testifying. An appeal is not a re-trial of a case. It is an effort to secure a decision by the appellate court on whether or not the trial court applied the law correctly.

Sam's threat to appeal to the Supreme Court of the United States is probably, therefore, more fanciful than real. If, however, he has a case involving the proper issues, his case might go all the way.

FOOD FAVORITES

A chocolate cake recipe with a secret ingredient — sauerkraut — was sent in this week by Nell Toland of R. D. 3, Old Fredericktown Rd.

A real conversation piece, the recipe came from Jennings, Mo.

Sauerkraut Cake

2-3 cup butter or margarine
1 1/2 cups sugar
3 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 cup unsweetened cocoa
2 1/4 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon baking soda
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 cup water
2-3 cup (rinsed) drained and chopped kraut

Cream butter with sugar. Beat in eggs and vanilla. Sift dry ingredients, add alternately with water to egg mixture. Stir in thoroughly rinsed and chopped kraut.

Turn into two greased and floured 8-inch square or round pans. Bake in 350 degrees for 30 minutes, or until cake tests done. Cook on cake racks.

Frost with mocha cream. Whip 1 1/2 cups heavy cream with 3 tablespoons sugar, 1 tablespoon instant coffee (with chicory), two tablespoons unsweetened cocoa and two tablespoons rum (optional).

Mrs. Marie Hays of Smithfield St., submits this party snack that can be made in large quantities, frozen, and baked as needed.

Cheese Balls

1 1/2 cup flour
1/4 tsp. salt
3/4 cup butter
3 cups grated cheddar cheese
Blend butter into the flour add salt and cheese and mix well. Chill for several hours. Shape in 1/2 in. balls. Bake at 400 degrees for 12 min.

This recipe makes about 80 balls. May be frozen with papers placed between the layers. They also can be frozen after baking. Should be served warm.

Oak Glen Closes On .500 Record

By BOB DUFFY
Review Sports Editor

Tom Thayer waited until the final game of the regular season to shatter all basketball records at Oak Glen High School as the Bears romped to an 88-60 victory over visiting Benwood Union Friday night.

Thayer put on a real show in his final appearance in the Oak Glen Fieldhouse pouring in 38 points to break his own mark of 34 set Feb. 15 against Follansbee.

THE TOTAL which came on 15 field goals and a perfect eight-for-eight night on the foul line, also broke the Fieldhouse record of 35 set last season by Dan Foley of Weirton.

The all-around athlete, who will enter West Virginia University, will take a few other records with him. In last night's game, he grabbed 25 rebounds to set a single game record by an Oak Glen player and he broke the record for most points in one season sometime ago.

Thayer who made 15 of 28 shots, scored his 38th point with 2:34 still remaining in the game then was removed from the contest to a standing ovation.

THE VICTORY also pulled Coach Bob Starkey's team to a .500 mark for the season with 10 and 10. Friday's victory served as a warmup for Wednesday's tournament opener with Wellsburg at 8 p. m. on the Weirton High School floor.

Oak Glen led all the way as Coach Jay Jacobs' small Benwood team could not keep up with the Bears on the boards or in the shooting department.

THE IRONMEN experienced a very cold first half hitting only six of 29 shots. Benwood found the range in the second half but already was buried under a 42-19 score at halftime. With Thayer scoring 12 points in the third and Dan Clark six, Oak Glen pushed the margin to 66-40 at the end of three frames.

THAYER pushed in 13 more points in the fourth quarter after scoring 25 points in three periods.

Clark, in his final game at Oak Glen, finished with 18 points while Bob Graham, who is winding up his high school career, added 13.

Starkey cleared the bench in the second half as 13 players saw action.

JIM POLLEY emerged as top scorer for Benwood with 20 points while Walker Burch added 13.

Benwood brought a 6-13 record to Oak Glen last night.

The contest marked the final appearance for seven Oak Glen seniors, including Clark, Thayer, Bob Graham, Dick Graham, Dan Forsythe, Gary Ring and Marv Six.

Oak Glen made a clean sweep Friday night when the reserve team scored a 66-54 victory as Rich Gogal paced the attack with 14 points.

Penn Clinches Loop Tie, But Can't Play In NCAA

By BOB GREENE

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Pennsylvania clinched a tie for the Ivy League basketball championship Friday night, but the National Collegiate Athletic Association has ruled that Penn cannot participate in the NCAA tournament.

Penn crushed second-place Columbia 83-68 to clinch a share of the league crown. If the Quakers defeat either Cornell tonight or Princeton Tuesday they will win the crown outright.

According to the NCAA Friday, Penn advised it would not conform nor comply with the association's 1.6 minimum grade standard for athletes. Acceptance is required for participation in NCAA-sponsored events, including the basketball tournament which starts March 7.

The Ivy League and other schools have opposed the 1.6 grade average, based on a 4.0 scale. The Ivy had contended that no outside agency, such as the NCAA, should establish academic standards for a school.

However, Robert F. Goheen, president of Princeton, announced Thursday that the Ivy schools had agreed to the academic standard. Goheen served as chairman of the NCAA committee that conferred with the Ivy schools on the problem.

Then on Friday the NCAA reported telegrams from both Penn and Yale which stated the two schools would not comply.

Goheen, who said he was trying to reach NCAA President Everett D. (Eppy) Barnes of Colgate and straighten out the situation, said:

"The directors of athletics at Yale and Penn apparently sent telegrams to the NCAA without a complete understanding of the agreement I had reached on behalf of the Ivy group policy committee with Barnes."

"We are consulting with Mr. Barnes in hope that any further misunderstanding may be avoided. I trust that the Ivy group's differences with the NCAA can still be resolved to the satisfaction of all concerned."

Nicklaus Trims Player's Margin

DURBAN, South Africa (AP)

Jack Nicklaus has pulled within two strokes of South Africa's Gary Player at the two-thirds mark of their six-round, 108-hole golfing tour of South Africa.

An eagle three on the 471-yard par 5 eighth hole enabled the long-driving Columbus, Ohio, start to score a Two-under-par 70 to Player's 73 over the 6,456-yard Durban Country Club course Friday.

Each has won once and tied twice in four 18-hole matches. The stroke play competition for a $50,000 purse will be determined in the final two 18-hole rounds.

In bagging the eagle, Nicklaus placed his second shot 19 feet from the hole and then sank the putt. This tied the overall match but Player picked up one stroke on the ninth hole and another on the 14th.

Mounties Battle Davidson For Tourney Title Tonight

Winner Gets Regional Shot In NCAA Play

By TED MEIER

Top-seeded Davidson, led by Dick Snyder's 27 points, routed Richmond 84-65 in the semifinals of the Southern Conference championship tournament at Charlotte Friday night and will try to land an NCAA berth by beating West Virginia in the final tonight. The Mountaineers advanced by defeating William and Mary 64-50 in the other semi.

WVU-Davidson Game On Television Tonight

The West Virginia-Davidson Southern Conference championship game at Charlotte, N.C., will be televised by WTRF tonight starting at 8:30.

The 8:30 p. m. showdown between the two 19-game winners marks only the second time Davidson has been in the title final. The Wildcats bowed to West Virginia in the 1963 championship game, 79-74.

This will be the rubber game of 1965-66 for the finalists. On this same Charlotte Coliseum court, Davidson routed WVU 105-79 in January. Later, at Charleston, W. Va., West Virginia won 74-65.

Davidson, hurdling the psychological barrier erected by two straight years in which the Wildcats were bumped in the semifinals, rocketed past cold-shooting Richmond 84-65 Friday night in a game that saw the spiders go the first 10:14 of the second half without a field goal.

West Virginia took a physical beating in a rugged 64-50 victory over William and Mary, which stayed ploddingly on the heels of the Mountaineers until the last five minutes with the ball-control game they execute almost to perfection.

West Virginia broke W&M's stout defense and mesmerized ball control with a closing flourish that saw Carl Head score all his 14 points in the last 12 minutes. John Cavacini had 16 for WVU. Ben Pomeroy and Tim Walter 15 each for the Indians, losing finalists a year ago.

The Colorado State University Rams, December lambs in the New York Holiday Festival, may turn out to be March lions in the NCAA tournament for the national college basketball championship.

Paced by Lonnie Wright's 35 points, the Rams whipped Utah State 74-64 before a record home crowd of 9,522 at Fort Collins. It was the Rams' sixth victory in their last seven games.

The one setback in this string was to unbeaten Texas Western 68-66 on a last second basket by Bobby Joe Hill.

Utah State took an early lead, but Wright tied it at 22-22 and quickly put the Rams out in front for good. Colorado State, now 13-6, was picked for the NCAA tourney as an at-large selection on Wednesday and paired against Houston in the first round at Wichita, Kan., March 7.

Penn's Quakers, led by Jeff Neumann's 28 points, clinched a tie for the Ivy League title by scoring an 83-68 road victory over Columbia. The Red and Blue can win their first Ivy crown in 13 years by beating Cornell at Ithaca, N.Y., tonight.

Pittsburgh May Get Bout

Cancellation At Chicago Expected For Clay's Bout

By JERRY LISKA

CHICAGO (AP) — Unbending Cassius Clay and the attorney general of Illinois today appeared to have killed Clay's scheduled heavyweight title match with Ernie Terrell here March 29 and probably chased it elsewhere.

Official cancellation of the bout was expected Monday when the Illinois Athletic Commission was scheduled to meet again.

A spokesman for Main Bouts, Inc., owning closed circuit television rights to the virtually-cancelled Chicago match, said three cities were receptive to taking over the bout.

The MBI spokesman, Bob Aaron, declined to identify the possible sites of a bout ahead of Clay's likely April induction into the Army, but a Pittsburgh promoter said he was offered the match by Clay interests.

In an incredible series of events Friday, the scheduled Clay-Terrell bout in Chicago was blown skyhigh when:

1—Clay testily refused to apologize before the Illinois State Athletic Commission for his "unpatriotic remarks" in an outburst eight days ago when his Louisville, Ky., Draft Board reclassified him I-A.

2—The three-member boxing commission hastily recessed until Monday after Clay's assertion that he didn't come from the Miami training camp to fight Terrell, a corporation must "make a showdown plea or be represented by at least 50 I would."

3—Atty. Gen. William G. Clay and Terrell failed to meet Clark minutes later declared the proposed fight was illegal anyway for violations of the Illinois boxing code.

Clark's performance at the somewhat weird commission meeting was typical of the unpredictable 24-year-old undefeated champion.

Instead of an expected contrite apology for his anti-draft blast in which he said that as a Black Muslim he wanted no part of the Viet Nam war, Clay in effect blamed the press for his adverse publicity.

"If I got any apologizing to do, I'll do it to government officials, the draft board and others," Clay blurted to the amazement of the commission which reportedly would have reaffirmed the fight if Clay was properly apologetic.

But equally strange was the fact the commission called the meeting to order some 40 minutes after the attorney general had told the group in closed session to inform the bout principals the fight was illegal.

Clark said the license of National Sports Promotions, Inc., Harrison of Ellsville, Mo., carried the name of two individuals and under the Illinois Exhibition Act, a corporation must "make a showdown plea or be represented by at least 50 I would."

Raiders Capture 2nd In Tourney

STEUBENVILLE—The single game scoring record at Stanton Local remained in the same family Friday night when Larry Spire went on a 46-point scoring spree in Stanton's second tournament victory at the Community Arena.

Spire matched the total points by Stanton's Opponent last night — Seton Central — as Coach Carl Hamill's team breezed to an 86-46 victory.

The new school standard breaks the old one held by Larry's brother Don Spire, who held the previous record of 42 points scored in a District tournament game against Dennison in 1962. Don is now a member of the Ohio University varsity squad where he is a junior.

LARRY HIT 19 of his team's 33 field goals and eight fouls during his outstanding performance.

Stanton has now been victorious over Adena and Seton of Belmont County and now faces Brilliant Monday night at 8:30. Brilliant defeated Stanton twice during the season.

THE RED Raiders experienced little trouble last night. After gaining a 22-5 first quarter lead, Stanton moved in front, 44-23 and 74-36 after three periods.

Bruce Burgett finished behind Spire in the scoring with 16 points.

Seton was paced by Bill Kutty with 12 and Jerry Olsatski with 11.

Tiant Is Thin And Cleveland Pilot's Glad

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Birdie Tebbetts is glad Luis Tiant is thin.

"Holy smokes, how about that," the Cleveland Indians manager said when he learned of Tiant's 32-inch waist line. "I'd heard he gained a lot of weight and I was almost afraid to look," Tebbetts said at the Indians' opening round of the spring training season Friday.

Tiant, a 25-year-old righthander, smiled and said: "I feel good. How I look?"

Tiant weighed 201 pounds and had a 36-inch waist last August. He finished the season with a 11-11 record. Now he's down to 171 pounds and says his weight is still dropping.

How did he do it? "I throw two, maybe three, four times a week in Mexico City," he said. "No work at regular job, but work all time on getting in good condition."

Tribe pitching coach Early Wynn has decided to wait and see before drawing any conclusions.

"It's a matter of trial," said Wynn. "Sometimes a pitcher helps himself by losing a lot of weight, but sometimes it might be harmful too. By that I mean he might disrupt his coordination."

Thayer Shatters Own Scoring Mark With 38 Points

Spires Pours In 46 To Establish New Stanton Record

Oak Glen Closes On .500 Record

By BOB DUFFY
Review Sports Editor

Tom Thayer waited until the final game of the regular season to shatter all basketball records at Oak Glen High School as the Bears romped to an 88-60 victory over visiting Benwood Union Friday night.

Thayer put on a real show in his final appearance in the Oak Glen Fieldhouse pouring in 38 points to break his own mark of 34 set Feb. 15 against Follansbee.

THE TOTAL which came on 15 field goals and a perfect eight-for-eight night on the foul line, also broke the Fieldhouse record of 35 set last season by Dan Foley of Weirton.

The all-around athlete, who will enter West Virginia University, will take a few other records with him. In last night's game, he grabbed 25 rebounds to set a single game record by an Oak Glen player and he broke the record for most points in one season sometime ago.

Thayer who made 15 of 28 shots, scored his 38th point with 2:34 still remaining in the game then was removed from the contest to a standing ovation.

THE VICTORY also pulled Coach Bob Starkey's team to a .500 mark for the season with 10 and 10. Friday's victory served as a warmup for Wednesday's tournament opener with Wellsburg at 8 p. m. on the Weirton High School floor.

Oak Glen led all the way as Coach Jay Jacobs' small Benwood team could not keep up with the Bears on the boards or in the shooting department.

THE IRONMEN experienced a very cold first half hitting only six of 29 shots. Benwood found the range in the second half but already was buried under a 42-19 score at halftime.

With Thayer scoring 12 points in the third and Dan Clark six, Oak Glen pushed the margin to 66-40 at the end of three frames.

THAYER pushed in 13 more points in the fourth quarter after scoring 25 points in three periods.

Clark, in his final game at Oak Glen, finished with 18 points while Bob Graham, who is winding up his high school career, added 13.

Starkey cleared the bench in the second half as 13 players saw action.

JIM POLLEY emerged as top scorer for Benwood with 20 points while Walker Burch added 13.

Benwood brought a 6-13 record to Oak Glen last night.

The contest marked the final appearance for seven Oak Glen seniors, including Clark, Thayer, Bob Graham, Dick Graham, Dan Forsythe, Gary Ring and Marv Six.

Oak Glen made a clean sweep Friday night when the reserve team scored a 66-54 victory as Rich Gogal paced the attack with 14 points.

Mounties Battle Davidson For Tourney Title Tonight

Winner Gets Regional Shot In NCAA Play

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Top-seeded Davidson, led by Dick Snyder's 27 points, routed Richmond 84-65 in the semifinals of the Southern Conference championship tourney at Charlotte Friday night and will try to land an NCAA berth by beating West Virginia in the final tonight. The Mountaineers advanced by defeating William and Mary 64-50 in the other semi.

WVU-Davidson Game On Television Tonight

The West Virginia-Davidson Southern Conference championship game at Charlotte, N.C., will be televised by WTRF tonight starting at 8:30.

The 8:30 p. m. showdown between the two 19-game winners marks only the second time Davidson has been in the title final. The Wildcats bowed to West Virginia in the 1963 championship game, 79-74.

This will be the rubber game of 1965-66 for the finalists. On this same Charlotte Coliseum court, Davidson routed WVU 105-79 in January. Later, at Charleston, W. Va., West Virginia won 74-65.

Davidson, hurdling the psychological barrier erected by two straight years in which the Wildcats were bumped in the semifinals, rocketed past cold-shooting Richmond 84-65 Friday night in a game that saw the spiders go the first 10:14 of the second half without a field goal.

West Virginia took a physical beating in a rugged 64-50 victory over William and Mary, which stayed ploddingly on the heels of the Mountaineers until the last five minutes with the ball-control game they execute almost to perfection.

West Virginia broke W&M's stout defense and mesmerized ball control with a closing flourish that saw Carl Head score all his 14 points in the last 12 minutes. John Cavacini had 16 for WVU, Ben Pomeroy and Tim Walter 15 each for the Indians.

The Colorado State University Rams, December lambs in the New York Holiday Festival, may turn out to be March lions in the NCAA tournament for the national college basketball championship.

Paced by Lonnie Wright's 35 points, the Rams whipped Utah State 74-64 before a record home crowd of 9,522 at Fort Collins. It was the Rams' sixth victory in their last seven games.

The one setback in this string was to unbeaten Texas Western 68-66 on a last second basket by Bobby Joe Hill.

Utah State took an early lead, but Wright tied it at 22-22 and quickly put the Rams out in front for good. Colorado State, now 13-6, was picked for the NCAA tourney as an at-large selection on Wednesday and paired against Houston in the first round at Wichita, Kan., March 7.

Penn's Quakers, led by Jeff Neumann's 28 points, clinched a tie for the Ivy League title by scoring an 83-68 road victory over Columbia. The Red and Blue can win their first Ivy crown in 13 years by beating Cornell at Ithaca, N.Y., tonight.

Pittsburgh May Get Bout

Cancellation At Chicago Expected For Clay's Bout

By JERRY LISKA
CHICAGO (AP) — Unbending Cassius Clay and the attorney general of Illinois today appeared to have killed Clay's scheduled heavyweight title match with Ernie Terrell here March 29 and probably chased it elsewhere.

Official cancellation of the bout was expected Monday when the Illinois Athletic Commission was scheduled to meet.

A spokesman for Main Bout, Inc., owning closed circuit television rights to the virtually-canceled Chicago match, said three cities were receptive to taking over the bout.

The MBI spokesman, Bob Aaron, declined to identify the possible sites of a bout ahead of Clay's likely April induction into the Army, but a Pittsburgh promoter said he was offered the match by Clay interests.

In an incredible series of events Friday, the scheduled Clay-Terrell bout in Chicago was blown skyhigh when:

1—Clay testily refused to apologize before the Illinois State Athletic Commission for his "unpatriotic remarks" in an outburst eight days ago when his Louisville, Ky., Draft Board reclassified him I-A.

2—The three-member boxing commission hastily recessed until Monday after Clay's assertion that he didn't come from uals and under the Illinois Ex-his Miami training camp to hibition Act, a corporation must "make a showdown plea or be represented by at least 50 apologize the way the press said persons.

Clark also added that both Clay and Terrell failed to meet compliance of the Illinois Boxing Act.

The later charge was not specified by Clark, but the attorney general pointed out that the Clay-Terrell contract violations came under a section barring licenses to fighters except to those of "good and stable moral character," not likely to engage in acts detrimental to the public.

Raiders Capture 2nd In Tourney

STEUBENVILLE—The single game scoring record at Stanton Local remained in the same family Friday night when Larry Spires went on a 46-point scoring spree in Stanton's second tournament victory at the Community Arena.

Spires matched the total points by Stanton's Opponent last night — Seton Central — as Coach Carl Hamill's team breezed to an 86-46 victory.

The new school standard breaks the old one held by Larry's brother Don Spires, who held the previous record of 42 points scored in a District tournament game against Dennison in 1962. Don is now a member of the Ohio University varsity squad where he is a junior.

LARRY HIT 19 of his team's 33 field goals and eight fouls during his outstanding performance.

Stanton has now been victorious over Adena and Seton of Belmont County and now faces Brilliant Monday night at 8:30. Brilliant defeated Stanton twice during the season.

THE RED Raiders experienced little trouble last night. After gaining a 22-5 first quarter lead, Stanton moved in front, 44-23 and 74-36 after three periods.

Bruce Burgett finished behind Spires in the scoring with 16 points.

Seton was paced by Bill Kuty with 12 and Jerry Olsatski with 11.

Sharp Increase In Enlistments Cuts March Draft

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon said Friday a sharp upturn in enlistments has enabled it to cut its March draft call by 10,500 to 22,400 — the lowest figure since a call for 16,500 men last August.
 The Defense Department originally asked the Selective Service for 32,900 inductees for March.
 But it said it was reducing that call after reviewing enlistment results for January.
 Army enlistments in January totaled about 19,000 — the highest monthly figure in more than a decade.
 The Defense Department said the March call reduction does not reflect any change in military strength plans.

MAGNETS

QUESTION: If mercury is a metal, why can't a magnet pick it up?

ANSWER: It's true that mercury is a metal even though we commonly see it in liquid form. But mercury does not belong to the ferro-magnetic group of metals. 'Ferrous' means pertaining to iron, and iron is the chief metal affected by magnetism, other being nickel and cobalt. This is why the mercury in the thermometer is paying no attention to Jimmy's magnet, while the iron nails are hanging by their heads.

While iron is the chief metal used in making magnets, it is often combined with other ferromagnetic metals in what are called alloys. There is still much to be learned about magnetism. Many scientists, however, explain it by the idea that the minute molecules in iron are all jumbled together, but that when it is magnetized, they are then lined up in orderly rows. Then, these scientists say, they can exert an attraction all together, for each molecule attracts others. This group attraction can reach out beyond the magnetized metal and do strange things, like picking up nails.

FOR YOU TO DO: Become familiar with magnets and magnetism. You'll be amazed to find the great extent to which magnets are used in our modern world.

Bringing Up A Family
By DR. GARRY MYERS
Children Should Have An Allowance

In this country teen-age girls spend over six billion dollars a year, and boys not much less. Obviously, they need early training in the value and use of money. Most children in our nation have far too much money spent on things for them, and far too much money to Dr. Garry Myers spend themselves. Wise parents not only limit this amount of money reasonably, but also aim that their children don't have much more to spend than other children they usually mingle with.

An allowance is a good means for helping educate children in the value and wise use of money. While it is true that children who find ways to earn part or all they spend learn some about money values, there is no practical way for the average child to do so.

PAY JOBS for him are scarce unless he is paid for chores he does at home. But when he is paid he doesn't feel himself a responsible member of the family. Besides, as he fails to do the chores faithfully to earn the needed money, his parents naturally give it to him anyway. Before long, a young child may be scolded and punished for not earning his allowance.

Then the allowance comes to be used as a means of punishment and reward. Moreover, his money needs are comparatively constant. When it is invaded for reward or punishment, how is he to learn to adapt himself to a definite amount? A good allowance is a budgeted regular amount. Of course, the child might profitably supplement it, as in providing for a special purchase, through earning from an extra home job. But he should know he has family responsibilities without pay. As soon as you begin to give a young child a nickel or dime to spend, it should be given only at regular intervals of a week or so.

ABOUT THE time the child enters school he will have some regular money needs. Though you may dole out to him certain daily amounts at first, he can help you to name what his regular needs for a day, or week will be — for school lunch, for example. Soon he will know of other regular needs. Write these down and a reasonable amount required for each.

In addition to these regular needs, he should have for each period a small amount to spend as he pleases. The total of these budgeted items should be his allowance, to be received at a regular time, say at the beginning of each week.

Car Hangs Over River Bank After Ramming Guard Rails

An 18-year-old Pleasant Heights youth escaped injury and a possible cold dunking Friday night when his car came to a halt with the front end hanging over the river bank after he lost control Friday night on the River Rd., police reported.

Dale Edward Craven of 1861 Idaho Ave. told officers he was headed west about 30 miles an hour when the car struck a dip in the road and the rear end began to fishtail.

The 1964 auto struck three guard rails and finally halted with the front dangling over the bank, police said. The mishap was timed at 11:39 p.m.

Officers said Carol Montgomery of 226 Haywood St. and Mary Sue Harding of 1011 May St. were witnesses.

Slippery streets were blamed for another mishap at 7:46 p.m. at St. Clair and McKinnon Aves. involving southbound autos driven by Ella E. Leigh, 57, of 1214 Riverview St., and Janice E. Harding, 23, of Hobart, Ind.

Police said the North Side woman was preparing to turn onto McKinnon Ave. and the Indiana driver was unable to stop.

Bringing Up A Family

By DR. GARRY MYERS

Children Should Have An Allowance

In this country teen-age girls spend over six billion dollars a year, and boys not much less. Obviously, they need early training in the value and use of money. Most children in our nation have far too much money spent on things for them, and far too much money to spend themselves. Wise parents not only limit this amount of money reasonably, but also aim that their children don't have much more to spend than other children they usually mingle with.

An allowance is a good means for helping educate children in the value and wise use of money. While it is true that children who find ways to earn part or all they spend learn some about money values, there is no practical way for the average child to do so.

PAY JOBS for him are scarce unless he is paid for chores he does at home. But when he is paid he doesn't feel himself a responsible member of the family. Besides, as he fails to do the chores faithfully to earn the needed money, his parents naturally give it to him anyway. Before long, a young child may be scolded and punished for not earning his allowance.

Then the allowance comes to be used as a means of punishment and reward. Moreover, his money needs are comparatively constant.

When it is invaded for reward or punishment, how is he to learn to adapt himself to a definite amount? A good allowance is a budgeted regular amount. Of course, the child might profitably supplement it, as in providing for a special purchase, through earning from an extra home job. But he should know he has family responsibilities without pay.

As soon as you begin to give a young child a nickel or dime to spend, it should be given only at regular intervals of a week or so.

ABOUT THE time the child enters school he will have some regular money needs. Though you may dote out to him certain daily amounts at first, he can help you to name what his regular needs for a day, or week will be—for school lunch, for example. Soon he will know of other regular needs. Write these down and a reasonable amount required for each.

In addition to these regular needs, he should have for each period a small amount to spend as he pleases. The total of these budgeted items should be his allowance, to be received at a regular time, say at the beginning of each week.

Car Hangs Over River Bank After Ramming Guard Rails

An 18-year-old Pleasant Heights youth escaped injury and a possible cold dunking Friday night when his car came to a halt with the front end hanging over the river bank after he lost control Friday night on the River Rd., police reported.

Dale Edward Craven of 1861 Idaho Ave. told officers he was headed west about 30 miles an hour when the car struck a dip in the road and the rear end began to fishtail.

The 1964 auto struck three guard rails and finally halted with the front dangling over the bank, police said. The mishap was timed at 11:39 p. m.

Officers said Carol Montgomery of 226 Haywood St. and Mary Sue Harding of 1011 May St. were witnesses.

Slippery streets were blamed for another mishap at 7:46 p. m. at St. Clair and McKinnon Aves. involving southbound autos driven by Ella E. Leigh, 57, of 1214 Riverview St., and Janice E. Harding, 23, of Hobart, Ind.

Police said the North Side woman was preparing to turn onto McKinnon Ave. and the Indiana driver was unable to stop.

because of road conditions, hitting the rear end of the Leigh auto.

A mishap at 9:08 p. m. on E. 4th St. involved a westbound auto operated by William Baker, 17, of New Brighton and the parked 1963 car of Robert Nutter of 705 E. 4th St.

Baker told officers a car headed up the E. 4th St. hill crowded him over and he skidded into the Nutter car. Nutter said he heard the crash while he was in the basement of his home.

Meanwhile, police said they had no report of an accident at Maryland Ave. and Erie St. about 5:30 p. m. Friday in which Ada Thorne of 724 Price St. was treated at City Hospital for a slight chest contusion.

Hospital authorities were told Mrs. Thorne was involved in an accident in which the car she was riding struck a utility pole.
